PIONEER WASHER.
E. G. BOLTER,
AGENT FOR OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY.
THIS CELEBRATED WASHING MACHINE IS now for the first time introduced to the Oregon public. It is unrivalled for its simplicity, durability and the rapidity and ease of its action Washing the dirtiest clothes perfectly clean in from five to ten minutes, with but slight labor, and lasting with proper care, for ten years The wear and tear of clothing in washing by this machine is vastly less than by any other known process of washing It does its work by a reverse motion in forcing the water through the clothes
It having a tight cover, the steam thus assists materially in cleansing the clothes and also avoids the finishing of steam from hot suds
This Machine captured the Special Premium at the California State Fair, and all that have used it pronounce it an invaluable adjunct to all housekeepers and families and washing men and washing women
It has been extensively introduced throughout the State of California and receives the universal commendation of all who have used it

Washington News

NEW YORK, Sept 5.—A Washington special says that Grant accused the President of disloyalty in his movements, and will leave the Cabinet, but the President carries out Another special says Grant leaves the Cabinet before the end of the week Stanbman declines the office but may be prevailed upon to accept

Another special says the Attorney-General is ready to issue an opinion arguing that Sickles is individually liable for his interference with property laws in the States of Carolina.

Recent circulars from the Treasury Department, addressed to the principal Collectors of Customs on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, instructs them to inquire vigilantly into any case of violation of the laws in relation to the Coolie trade and report any infraction thereof immediately to the Department as well as to notify the nearest United States Attorney of the same

The Secretary of the Interior has nearly recovered from his recent indisposition and was, for a short time, at the Department.

WASHINGTON, Sept 5.—An organization styled the Grand Pensylvanians of the United States National Union of Johnson men, held a meeting this evening The proceedings were secret. It is understood to be a branch of the organization elsewhere

WASHINGTON, Sept 6.—The Intelligencer says the rumors of a change in the War Department are wholly without foundation, but it gives credence to reports that Cabinet changes are imminent

The Intelligencer is authorized to say that the account of an alleged interview between the President and Grant, in which the latter is represented to have spoken in the highest degree reprehensible, is a fabrication Grant did not say to the President that he considered his opposition to the Constitutional Amendment fortunate to the country as it prevented the admission of the ensuites of the Government in the form of reign States The assertion which states that to a rupture between the President and Grant has become irreconcilable, is wholly untrue; also another report, to the effect that the latter expressed himself dissatisfied with that document," meaning the recent proclamation issued by President Johnson

WASHINGTON, Sept 6.—The Secretary of the Treasury has addressed the following letter to the Washington agent of the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept 6, 1866

WASHINGTON, Sept 6.—The pardon proclamation soon to be issued was before the Cabinet to day All the members were present except Grant and Stanbery The latter was represented by Buckley The report that the proclamation met with considerable opposition is not correct, although it is understood that there was a difference of views on minor points; the Cabinet is agreed on the general scope of the document It will be recollected that the President's Proclamation of 1865 and March, 1864 offered full pardon and amnesty on certain conditions, to those engaged in rebellion, and excepting six classes specifically named and that Johnson in his proclamation of May 1865, increased the exceptional class to 14 It is understood that the President now proposes that the President shall have power to grant pardons and pardons for offences against the United States, except in cases of impeachment, and to reduce the number of classes to four The President first excludes from the benefit of the proclamation, all against whom legal proceedings have been instituted This excludes Davis, and perhaps other prominent executive officers of the Confederacy. Second, all who have been foreign agents of the Government Mason and Slidell fall within this exception Third, all who have been military or naval officers above the rank of Brigadier General in the army, or a Captain in the navy The former proclamation excepted from pardon above the grade of Colonel and Lieutenant, in those branches of the public service By the present proclamation, all against whom legal proceedings are excluded, Maj Generals, Lieut Generals and Gen Lee, although the latter is not mentioned by name, also Semmes The fourth exceptional class is not as definitely known as the foregoing but it applies to all who may appear to be implicated to the assassination of Lincoln The proclamation is based on the Constitutional power to grant pardons

Sickles' report to Grant contains the letters of instruction of Grant to Sickles, in which is the following "Follow the course of action indicated by you as right, and regard my dispatch of the 16th, as withdrawn" The report does not give the dispatch in question, but it is ascertained to be as follows

The Convention appended a resolution of its own expressing an intention to cultivate relations of harmony between the two races, to deal justly with blacks and instruct them in their duties to themselves, to society and their country appealing to them to place trust in them and to deal cautiously with strangers who bear no evidence that they are honorable till they are better known

The Lesson in California.

While Frank Pixley was engaged in stumping the State of California for Gorham, he wrote to a friend in San Francisco that "the sore-heads this time were not among the politicians, but the people." This trenchant declaration found its way into the public press, and was commented on as affording a clear view of the sentiment of the Republican party throughout the State. As the news continues to come, the evidences are multiplying that the party let the election go by default, believing that defeat would be preferable to ratifying nominations which were forced on them by combinations among politicians who presumed on the strength of the organization to further their own designs. When we read that of 22,800 votes registered in San Francisco only 17,385 were polled in the election, and consider that the same apathy existed very generally throughout the State, the result will not seem astonishing. Twenty-five per cent. of the voters of San Francisco did not go to the polls at all. That these 5,500 voters were Republicans with scarcely an exception, there can be no doubt. Of course the Democrats made extraordinary efforts to get out their whole vote, and being united on their ticket not one of their voters who could get to the polls remained away. Had their opponents been equally united they would have carried the city by a large majority. Their votes in the city alone would have reduced the per cent majority of Haight to just nothing, elected the Congressmen for that District and given the Republicans a majority in the Legislature. What was witnessed in San Francisco undoubtedly occurred to a greater or less extent all over the State. In Sacramento three-fourths of the party protested against the ticket and refused to vote it, and in many of the counties, including Sacramento and San Francisco, their strength was divided upon two or more local tickets. Senator Conness had his agents in every county working for his re-election, and as he was not the choice of the party, his operations produced deep and wide-spread disaffection in its ranks. The party was cheated out of its choice in the nomination of candidates for the minor as well as for the higher offices. They saw that an effort was making, in defiance of their will, to secure the triumph of scheming politicians who believed that by the coercive force of party discipline they could compel the election of any candidate whose nomination had the appearance of regularity. The fruits of these operations became apparent on the day of election. The politicians entered into a squabble for the spoils, and the party lost its ascendency. This is the whole truth about that election. Naturally when a party raises a quarrel in its own ranks, some of its voters through disgust go over to the opposition; but beyond the little increase of strength which the Democrats have acquired through this cause they have gained nothing on the popular vote. Figures enough have already proved us to show that the election does not indicate a general reaction against the Republican party. They show that Republicans will do what Republicans have never yet done,—that they will refuse to vote for candidates who are objectionable to them and whose nominations were obtained by bargain or unfair combinations.

It is true that only a part of the candidates on the Republican ticket were so very objectionable, perhaps, but all of them were nominated by the same Convention and to that extent all rested under the same suspicion. The majority of Republicans do not discriminate very nicely between candidates, and only thirty men on the same ticket with twenty-six of those who vote put scratched ballots for one party or the other, whose names stood at the head of the Republican ticket not having the confidence of the party, and there being great dissatisfaction with the county ticket for the reasons we have given, a large class of voters, amounting in many cases as we have seen to one fourth of the whole population refused to attend the election at all. Some, of course, in the general disaffection would go over to the Democratic party; but if their own party had presented acceptable men they would never have thought of voting with the opposition. It is impossible to attack the weak points of a ticket without injuring the whole of it. Especially is this the case when the objectionable names occupy the first places. So when the Union and Bulletin were assailing the leading names on the Ticket, and showing why they should not be supported, their reasons and arguments were telling against the whole ticket. The good and the bad went down together.

Bidwell was undoubtedly the choice of the party for Governor. Before the Convention was held, the press had pronounced almost unanimously for him. Of the forty Union or Republican papers in the State, thirty-five had declared for Bidwell, and none had manifested a distinct preference for Gorham. In every part of the State the tide was in Bidwell's favor. But Gorham secured the San Francisco and Sacramento delegations by voting Democrats at the primaries, and then by crafty management in the Convention succeeded in obtaining the nomination. His reputation was not such an one as a man ought to have who aspires to so responsible a position; for, whether he was corrupt or not, he was believed to be so, and a man who comes before the people as a candidate for a high office should be entirely above suspicion. To add to his unpopularity, Gorham was believed to be in league with powerful corporations to advance their interests, and also to be conniving with Senator Conness to secure the latter's re-election. These men and their followers rejected every consideration of prudence, used denunciation against those who were disaffected instead of trying to conciliate them, interfered with county conventions, dictated local nominations and acted as if they were supreme masters of the party. Good men were thrust out because they would not be their willing tools, and those in whom the people had no confidence were in very many cases offered as candidates. By these practices the party was utterly paralyzed, and defeat followed where, with proper management, and acceptable candidates, it could not have failed of victory.

The lesson taught in this case should not be lost in California or elsewhere. Honesty in politics is the only safe policy. A party is never strong enough to make it safe for its representatives to do wrong. Selfish, ambitious and unfit men must know that trickery will not succeed. The masses of a party must make its nominations. Politicians must not cheat them out of their choice. In selecting men for candidates, regard must be had to their fitness and reputation. Cliques and cabals to advance individual interests must be kept down. Otherwise a party which is proud in its record and confident in its strength may meet defeat when great principles demand its triumph.

One of the unreconstructed who spoke at the Democratic meeting on Saturday night, said that the time was at hand when the Democrats would make "Abolitionists hunt their holes." He also talked about going into the business of "hanging Radicals." Of course. The sight of a few thousand "Radical" heads elevated on poles would be a most grateful sight to "Conservative" eyes. But the Abolitionists are not greatly frightened. They are not accustomed to "hunt their holes," but leave that business to those slinking rodents, night Copperheads.

Gen. Sherman's opinion of Alaska is concise and pronounced: "Give 'em seven millions more to take it back, and be thankful to get off so cheap."

STATE ITEMS.

Freights from the Dalles to Canyon City have advanced five cents per pound.

Senator Williams will address the people of the Dalles on the evening of the 10th inst.

Parties are now making lime in the vicinity of Roseburg. It is said to be of good quality.

The assessment roll of Lane county shows taxable property to the amount of $1,640,615.

Umpqua Academy, under the management of Professor Smith, has re-opened with flattering prospects.

McIntyre, a private of Co F 23d Infantry, the supposed murderer of Marshal Keeler, of the Dalles, has been arrested. Several other soldiers have been taken into custody as accessories.

The Second Course of Lectures in the Medical Department of the Willamette University will commence on the 14th of November and continue four months. The class receiving instruction consists of twenty students.

Mr Wm Miller, the owner of the thresher that was burned on the Coast Fork last week, says the Guard, brought suit against L. Vanarburg for its value and obtained a judgment for $250. Major Chrisman, the owner of the grain stack that was burned at the same time, has obtained a judgment from the same party.

The State Journal has the following item on the crops of Lane county: "Farmers have nearly done threshing, and from several of them we have heard that the average yield of their wheat fields for the present year, will be from twenty to twenty-five bushels per acre. One farmer had one hundred acres of wheat and barley and the yield was over twenty-five bushels per acre. We have heard of some smaller fields that were much better than this."

The Record says that the P. T. Co have been very successful in removing the obstructions to navigation at Rocky Rapids, below Independence, and that Captains Jerome and Kellogg have already commenced work on Humphrey's Rapids, below Buena Vista. The Navigation at Rocky Rapids, which was difficult and dangerous, has been made comparatively safe and easy. There exists at the present time no serious impediment to navigation to Albany.

Says the Roseburg Ensign: "We hear something every day in regard to our minerals. Southern Oregon is rich without a doubt, with the precious, and base metals, veins of gold, silver and copper can be found in almost any section, and in paying quantities, but capital is required to work them with profit. Many rich leads in this country are owned by men unable to work them. Copper can be procured in inexhaustible quantities, which in time will be very valuable.

Says the Corvallis Gazette: Last Monday morning, Wm Thornton, of this city, hauled a day load of rubbish down to the usual trash depot, on the steep river bank just above the Hamilton Brothers' feed store. After he had "dumped" the dray he endeavored to start up by "clucking" to the horse, but it seems that the valuable quadruped had been to the circus and taken up with some of the bad habits of the wild buffalo, or didn't "cumtux" his new driver—so he commenced running back. The dray and horse were precipitated about thirty feet to the water. But before they reached the water they turned a complete somerset, throwing the horse in first and the dray lit on top of him. The horse passed under a tree that fell to the river, and soon made his way to the surface minus everything but the collar and made for the opposite bank. Strange to say, no material damage was done.

CANYON CITY NEWS.

The Mountaineer has the following from Canyon City:

This place is flourishing and business improving. A new military post is to be established on Rattlesnake Creek, sixty miles south of Canyon City, to be called Camp Crook. This will enable miners to prospect that region of country.

Oliver Parker, of Dixie creek, in company with his brother and another gentleman, while out hunting, in attempting to take up his gun, which he had set in a bush, in pulling it towards him, the hammer caught, discharging the load into his breast, killing him almost instantly. He was buried at Canyon City, his funeral being attended by a large number of friends.

Lockwood & Co.'s stages are making express time, having made, so far, the quickest time on record. They arrived this trip with a full load of passengers.

A runaway match took place on the North Fork of John Day river. It appears that Robinson, the expressman, wanted to marry Miss Maggie Hardy, the desire being mutual, and as her father was opposed to the match, they determined to go to Boise, a distance of two hundred miles, where the ceremony could be performed without the consent of the stubborn father, or the trouble of procuring a license. The "happy couple" started, soon to be followed by the indignant and enraged father, who, by some stroke of good luck to the lovers, got ahead and passed on through Auburn. In the meantime the lovers arrived and were informed that the old gentleman had gone on ahead, when they took to the woods on the edge of town, leaving a friend in town to watch the movements of the father who returned to Auburn as soon as he was satisfied that he was on the wrong track. The "friend of the family" went to "The Old-man," and after considerable "talk" he "weakened," and went to the Clerk's office and got the much desired license, which was placed in the "friend's" hands, who, as if by magic, brought forth the lovers and they were "wedded together" in the bands of wedlock. At last accounts the young lady was still at Auburn, not being able to travel after her severe ride on horse-back of about sixty miles, over a mountain trail, in the short space of eight hours.

Lieutenant Kessler returned to Camp Watson from a scout after Indians up the South Fork.

Ned Weeks and Ned Turk have returned from a hunt in the Harney Lake country.

The Murder of Marshal Keeler.

The Mountaineer of Saturday, gives the following version of this sad affair:

"On Wednesday evening, Marshal Keeler arrested a soldier for disorderly conduct and placed him in jail. During the night a party of eight or ten soldiers came down from their camp with the intention of getting the soldier out of jail or of having revenge on the Marshal. They requested the Marshal several times to let the man out of jail, but he refused to do so, telling them that he would have the man at the cars in time and that he would not be left behind. The movements of this party appearing somewhat strange, they being armed with muskets, the Marshal with Deputy Peter Ruffner, continued to follow them, until at last he had persuaded them to return to camp, which they apparently pretended to do. When they got on the street leading toward the garrison, somewhere in the rear of Colonel states' residence, they commenced firing off their muskets. Marshal Keeler in company with his deputy, proceeded towards the shooting and when in the supposed neighborhood, he called to them, but received no answer. He then proceeded on, his deputy remaining a very short distance in the rear, when suddenly he was hailed with "halt, who comes here?" he immediately replied, "the Marshal of Dalles City," the soldier then said, "halt, or I'll shoot," the Marshal replied, "Oh, no, you won't shoot," and continued to walk towards the man and when within ten feet, the fatal shot was fired. The man, with several others then ran towards the garrison, the Deputy firing several shots at them as they retreated. Mr. Ruffner ran to the assistance of the Marshal, whose last words were "what will my poor wife and children do?" He was taken to the Umatilla House, and Dr. Jackson was called, who pronounced the wound mortal, "the ball entered the thorax about two inches to the left of the articulation of the seventh rib with the sternum, cutting the rib passed directly inward through the apex of the heart and emerged on the opposite side of the chest close to the third dorsal vertebra." He lived about an hour and twenty minutes after receiving the wound. He leaves a young wife and child to mourn his untimely death.

Marshal Charles H. Keeler was a brave and good man, and was noted for his ability as detective and for his general efficiency as a police officer. If he had a fault, it was in being over zealous in the performance of his official duties. He was buried yesterday afternoon by the Fire Department, our entire city wearing the badge of mourning and sorrow. Business of all kinds was suspended and houses closed; the schools were dismissed; sadness was depicted on every face; and all seem to feel the sad calamity that has befallen our city. He has gone and we are sad.

Since the result of the California election became known, the hopes of the Democracy have been brighter than at any time since the battle of Bull Run, in July, 1861. On that occasion many of them, as all Union men remember, were equally as full of glee, though not quite so demonstrative, as they have been since the late news was received. We are not surprised that those whose hearts for six years had not been gladdened with the news of a Democratic victory should now give way to unusual manifestations of joy. The news of another assassination would probably set some of them completely wild.

D. D. Fisk, editor of the Hartford Courant, who is well acquainted with Danish literature and history, pronounces the story "started by a Washington paper about the discovery of a Runic inscription near the Potomac," an account of which we have published, "absurd." He says there is no such man as "Prof. Raffuson," on whose authority the Washington Union professes to give it.

At a meeting at the Dorcas Society, held in Hoboken, a few evenings since, a young lady pronounced to a learned Presbyterian divine the following interrogatory: "Doctor won't you be so good as to explain to us the difference between ministers of the Roman Catholic and Baptist churches?" "Oh, certainly, it is a very slight one: one uses wax candles—the other dips!"

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO SEPTEMBER 7.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

Washington News.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The Times' special says the result of the California election produced much good feeling with the President and his friends of the political firm of Blair, Black & Co. Johnson looks upon it as an endorsement of his position, making an ebb tide of the radical flood. The effect will be to cause him to persevere in his present course.

The friends of Fred Douglas, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the place of Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau, assert that he would not accept the office at the hands of Johnson. Douglas is anxious for the retention of Howard.

The Tribune's special says that the report of McCulloch shows that over $120,000,000 of the public debt was paid last year, and at this rate it would be paid off in July, 1877.

The President has pardoned Wm Cashman, a Postmaster in Louisiana.

WASHINGTON, Sept 7.—The Intelligencer says that at a Cabinet meeting yesterday, it was unanimously the opinion that the legal effect of the amnesty would be to relieve all included in it from disqualifications and penalties incurred from participation in the rebellion, and as far as the action of the Government was concerned from any disability as to suffrage.

The latest rumor is that Reverdy Johnson will succeed Secretary Seward.

The recent proclamation of civil supremacy will be furnished to every United States officer with suitable injunctions for loyalty and obedience to the law. Heads of departments will be charged with distributing the law.

NEW YORK, Sept 6.—The Herald's Washington special says that the Internal Department has received information of great importance, regarding certain alleged heavy frauds in whiskey, in New York and Brooklyn, which implicates among others, five Internal Revenue collectors. The Metropolitan Board, after investigating the latter, has requested the head of the Department to enforce justicially.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—General Griffin, commanding in the Fifth District, has asked and received permission to fix his headquarters at Galveston, owing to the fact that he has but one staff officer fit for duty, and that the surgeons are all sick, and that his only child is on the point of death, and that to proceed to New Orleans under the circumstances would seem almost like deserting his post in the face of the enemy.

Owing to a clerical error, a new statement of the public debt will be made which will show a reduction of the debt since September 1st, 1865, of two hundred and sixty four millions nine hundred and six thousand dollars.

The restriction upon the transfer of spirits in bond from warehouse, class B, is abolished under the new regulations adopted by the Treasury Department. The regulations go into effect immediately.

After the announcement was made a mob of two hundred of the Dovelin party arrived opposite the Mechanics' Hall and tore down the statements of the poll. A riot commenced. A shower of stones being directed at the hall, the windows in front were broken. There was a free fight in the street. The mob was kept out of the hall (where McGee was) by revolvers and shots from the inside. At the entrance the guards charged on the rioters and put them to rout.

Forty-four elections for the House of Commons are completed. The Leader claims ninety-four for the support of the Government.

From Mexico.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The Herald's City of Mexico letter, dated July 20th, says Juarez has completed the formation of a new cabinet, and the country is divided into military districts, to which Regules, Diaz and Escobedo, Corona and Alvarez have been assigned.

On the 16th of July the President accorded an informal reception, which was rather an indifferent affair, the people being conspicuously wanting in the usual Mexican enthusiasm. Diaz has had almost a rupture with Juarez on the subject of the execution of fourteen prisoners of war who through Diaz's efforts, were respited. It is reported that Diaz threatened Juarez with the forcible intervention of the army he commands, unless the sentences were suspended.

Carlos Miramon has 2,600 men in the mountains, and recently shot twenty Federals in revenge for his brother's death.

DR HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—Wherever there is dyspepsia, they are in demand. Nor is it for indigestion alone that they are a specific. Every disorder of the stomach, the liver, the bowels, and the nervous system, seems to yield to their influence. They are an antidote to pain; they refresh and reinforce the exhausted animal powers; they counteract the morbid principles of disease, they regulate the whole vital machinery, and may be justly termed the strongest ally that science has ever brought to the aid of nature in her struggle with sickness.—Sold by Druggists and dealers everywhere.

THERE IS NO EXCUSE for those who drag their weary and disordered bodies into our company, when a few doses of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA would cleanse their murky blood and restore their health and vigor. Ye muddy victims of bilious disease, have some regard for your neighbors, if not for yourselves.

YOUNG'S RIVER AND ITS FALLS.—We have received from a correspondent at Astoria an account of a recent trip of pleasure-seekers, about fifty in number, to the falls of Young's river. There seems to have been nothing unusual in the experience of the excursionists, so we merely copy that part of the letter which relates to the river and the falls. The writer says: "Ascending the river about two miles, we arrived at the mouth of the first branch, Walluca, which enters from the east. It is a short stream draining a rich and comparatively level country, not thickly covered with timber, but covered with a dense undergrowth of vine-maple, salal-bushes, whortleberry, wild bitter currant, and, as Prof Wood said in his lectures, a "magnificent growth of ferns." From the mouth of the Walluca, at a distances of one to two miles, are high points coming close down to the banks of the river, upon which are located farms. Between these points are tide lands covered with a luxuriant growth of clover, tide grass and black pea vine. At extreme high tides, these lands are covered with water to the depth of one to four feet. The river at the distance of about five miles from its mouth, receives another small tributary called Glocomi, which is navigable about two miles for small boats. Thence up the main branch of Young's river in a general southerly course, though in sailing up we ran to all points of the compass, we found the timber as upon the Walluca, high points coming down to the river, covered with a thick growth of silver tree from four inches to two feet in diameter, the original spruce and hemlock, appearing to have perished by age or from former fires. The table lands are rich, judging from the luxuriant growth of vegetation. The soil is a dark red loam resting upon a soft, soapy or sandstone formation. The falls, by measurement, were found to be seventy feet in perpendicular height, of which distance the water falls about twenty feet in a solid column; then, falling upon jutting fragments of rocks, descends in spray to the basin below. Our party enjoyed fine sport, angling in this pond for trout."

OREGONIANS IN NEW YORK.—The Oregon City Enterprise has a letter from New York, under date Aug. 3d, in which occurs the following in relation to Portland people and the Oregon exhibition in New York: Ad. Starr is here at 95 Liberty street, also Captain Reeder, who has a fair business future before him. Hank Green is talking of leaving for home soon. When he gets back to Oregon you just ask him about Santiam. Those rich specimens Kenyon brought here were no temptation to the capitalist, but they served to block up Broadway most effectually one day, in front of a large show-window where Green had deposited them for exhibition. He was notified to take them away. Barney is here—he has a determined spirit and will come out all O. K. in season. There are a great many Oregonians in New York, but somehow the "Pacific coast delegation" appears. Its meeting are not held with so much regularity as formerly, and the "association" now seems to have one particular future—that is, there are never but two members in the destitute and care for all its responsibilities—one acts as President and the other as Secretary, and these constitute a quorum for business. Another notable peculiarity is: that one member, while in session, cannot withdraw without the sanction of his associate member. The rules are very stringent in this respect, and a little hard feeling has, I have understood, been the consequence, when one member would "come it rather strong," and take advantage of the forbearance and virtue of the other.

CAPTURE OF BOB TURNER.—The last number received of the Victoria Colonist says: "Officer McMillan, of the police force, Mr. Glover of the Bank of British North America, and Mr. Grunbaum, of Grunbaum Bros., returned in a plunger from Port Townsend, on yesterday. He was tracked from place to place and finally caught in Hyde's store, at Port Angeles, while smoking a cigar and astonishing gaping residents with a wonderful "yarn." He submitted to the "darbies" with a good grace, and was taken up to Port Townsend, where, on Saturday, he was taken before Chief Justice Darwin and fully committed, in default of $1,000 bail, to await the action of Governor Moore, of Washington Territory. The wretched man was quite overcome when captured, but soon recovered his self possession, and asked to know what the people said papers at Victoria and about his capture. The arrest was effected by Sheriff Littlefield, of Port Townsend, and officer McMillan. Schlesinger says that on the day of the forgery he sat under Janion, Green & Rhodes' wharf and smoked a cigar while the officers were searching for him overhead. Having got he walked around the harbor, was taken aboard a fishing boat at McCauley's Point, and arrived at four o'clock on the following morning at Port Angeles. Great praise is due to Sheriff Littlefield for the promptitude with which he raised the parties from this side in the pursuit."

DEMOCRATIC JUBILEE.—The Democrats of this city had a public jubilee, Saturday evening, over the election news from California. Speeches were made by several prominent Democrats, among whom were Messrs. Reed, Trimble, Grover, Cronin, Page, Johnson and others. A cannon was fired on Oak street, bonfires were built in two or three places, several pieces of fireworks were burned, and the proceedings terminated with a torch-light procession. There was considerable enthusiasm, a good deal of bunmerbe talking, not a little self-gloridication, some abuse of persons and parties called Radical, 'music by the band' and a brass new American flag in the back ground. The Herald office was illuminated by a few "tallow dips," a house (owner unknown,) on the east side of the river was illuminated rather more, the torch-light crowd honored the Herald with cheers and did the Oregonian proud with three Confederate groans. The whole affair was conducted with much spirit.

COUNTY COURT.—Proceedings of Saturday, Sept. 7th: Estate of Wm. A. Ettinger, deceased; confirmation of sale of real estate as follows: Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8, in Block 82, in Caruther's addition.

Petition of D. B Hannah and T. J. Carter, for an order directing the delivery to them and others of their interest in the estate of F. Caruthers, deceased, by R. Byrd, administrator; demurrer to petition sustained, with leave to petitioners till 14th instant to amend petition.

Estate of C. N. Hamilton, deceased; confirmation of sale of real estate made 31st August.

Petition filed for location of County road from White River, leading to Oswego, to connect with Clackamas County road at the county line. Viewers appointed: Wm Strong, John Shepherdson, and J. Terwilliger, to meet on the 18th instant, to view the proposed location of the road.

WIND.—The casement window frame for the front of the M. E. Church was, on Saturday, raised by means of tackle, to an upright position, under the direction of Mr. John Hunter. It was raised without accident, though it was a job requiring great care, in consequence of its immense size and weight. It required in its construction, nearly four thousand feet of lumber. The main part of the frame contains forty-four casements, each of which has thirty-four large spaces for glass. Above these are two round "D" lights, each with nine fancifully cut lights, and there are seven irregularly shaped intermediate lights. Still above these is a large, round casement divided into seven compartments of wedge shaped and triangular lights. The total number of "D" lights of glass, is two hundred and fifty-six, the most of which will require large plates. The frame will be raised to its place on the front wall to-day. It stands now on the ground.

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS.—On Saturday a grand council of the degree of Knights Templars, was organized in this city with a jurisdiction extending over Oregon and Washington Territory. The following is a list of the officers elect: Grand Commander, J. S. Ridder; Grand Senior Warden, H. H. Burton; Grand Junior Warden, T. M. Martin; Grand Secretary, Jas. A. Waters; Grand Treasurer, Miss Iellia M. Anderson; Grand Herald, T. B. Handley; Grand Chaplain, Wm. Herman; Grand Guard, Miss M. Bone; Grand Sentinel, John Richardson; Past Grand Commander, Jacob Blitzel. This degree, or perhaps it might be called an order, grew out of the order of Good Templars, receiving its members only through the latter order, though otherwise independent in its action. It is understood to be somewhat in advance of the order of Good Templars as to perfection of organization and the binding nature of its pledges.

THEATRICAL.—Sometime since we saw a notice in a Newburg paper, of Charlotte Crampton and troupe, who were then making a tour northward through Oregon. The Mountaineer of Saturday says the troupe is now playing at the Dalles. They failed unaccountably to inflict themselves on this city, as has been the custom of these rambling troupes.

OREGON CITY PAPER MILL.—On Saturday Sheriff Burns, of Clackamas county, sold the Oregon City paper mill, upon an execution in favor of the Bank of the British Columbia. The mill, machinery and fixtures brought $14,000. Balch, Miller & Co were the purchasers. A small lot of personal property was sold for about $100.

MENDELSSOHN VEREIN.—A public meeting will be held this evening at 7 o'clock at the Bush Israel school house on the corner of Stark and Sixth streets, for the purpose of organizing a Society to be called the Mendelssohn Verein. All persons desiring to become members, are invited to be present.

PERSONAL.—Gov. Ballard of Idaho, was in town a day or two ago, en route to his old home in Linn county. Mr. Leland, editor of the Lewiston Journal came down a day or two ago. He is on his way to California, and arriving too late for the steamer will probably proceed overland.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB.—On Saturday, steps were taken to organize a Democratic club in this city. Messrs. Stout, J. A. Chapman, L. Meyer, James Partlow, and W. P Trimble, were appointed a committee to draft plan of organization.

NAVIGATION OF SNAKE RIVER.—The waters of Snake river have become so low that the steamer plying from Walluta to Lewiston is unable longer to run. Transportation, hereafter, till the fall rains set in, will be altogether overland.

WITNESS EXPENSES.—The steamer Senator, on Saturday, brought down from Oregon City, 400 qr sks flour, 208 bags oats, 33 bags feed, 10 boxes apples, 1 trunk index, 28 boxes pears and 35 boxes plums

U S CIRCUIT COURT.—There were no proceedings in this court on Saturday. The case of Field vs. Heirs of D H. Lowndale, is set for trial to-day.

BEAR IN MIND that BARMAN BROS will receive by the steamer Oriflamme the finest and the cheapest stock of Custom made Clothing that ever entered into any store in the city of Portland.

ALL YE SPARTANS are requested to be on hand this afternoon at 4½ o'clock promptly.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF IDAHO—BOISE CITY, I. T.—Organized March 11th, 1867, (with circulation) under Act of Congress, approved June 3d, 1864. Authorized capital $500,000. Paid up capital, $100,000. B. M. Duffell, President; C W Moore, Cashier. Collections of Notes and Accounts on the principal places in Idaho Territory promptly attended to. Exchange for Coin or Currency on this Bank can be purchased of Ladd & Tilton, Portland, Or gon.

DEATH OF HANNIBAL HAMLIN.—A telegram received at San Francisco states that Hannibal Hamlin died at New Orleans, August 28th, of yel low fever. The dispatches to the press have not mentioned the occurrence, yet it may be true. The Sacramento Union, in noticing the report of his death, has the following

He was born in the town of Paris (Me.), in 1809, and consequently was 58 years of age at the time of his death. He was admitted to the bar in 1833, and continued to practice his profession, in which he was eminently successful, until 1845. He was a member of the Maine Legislature in 1836, and was three times elected Speaker. He was elected twice as Representative to Congress. In May, 1843, he was elected to the United States Senate to fill a vacancy occasioned by the death of John Fairfield, and was re elected for a full term in 1851. In 1857 he was elected Governor of Maine, and a few days after re-elected to the United States Senate. In 1860 he was nominated for the Vice Presidency by the Republican party on the ticket with Lincoln, and was elected. At the end of his term he retired to his home in Maine. After Lincoln's re election he was appointed Collector of Boston, which place he held until 1866, when he resigned, disapproving as he did of Johnson's policy, and boldly advocated the reconstruction plan of Congress. In the outset of his political career he was a Democrat, but took an active part in the formation of the Republican party, and was an outspoken opponent of the encroachments of slavery. He was frank and manly in the expression of his opinions, of sterling honesty and strong convictions. He was a ready debater, and if not a positively great man, was a good practical legislator and eminently useful in all the departments of public service with which he was connected.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER.
Travelers are always liable to sudden attacks of dysentery and cholera morbus, and those occurring when absent from home are very unpleasant. PERRY DAVIS VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER may always be relied upon in such cases. As soon as you feel the symptoms, take one teaspoonful in a gill of new milk and molasses, and a gill of hot water. Stir well together and drink hot. Repeat the dose every hour until relieved. If the pains be severe, bathe the bowels and back with the medicine, clear.
Fishermen, so often sad to hurts by having their skin pierced with hooks and fins of fish, can be much relieved by bathing with a little Pain Killer as soon as the accident occurs; in this way the anguish is soon abated; bathe as often as once in five minutes, say three or four times, and you will seldom have any trouble. Sold by dealers everywhere.

The Proposal.

I met her in the quiet lane
One Sabbath morning early;
The sun was bright, although the rain
Still glittered on the barley.
The lark was singing to his mate,
The wild bells chimed their warning,
We paused awhile outside the gate;
We lingered until it was to late
To go to church that morning.

Again we met. The whispering leaves
Glanced nigh in night and shadow;
The reapers filled the yellow sheaves,
The bees hummed o'er the meadow.
The royal sun was up in state,
Our marriage day adorning:
The bells rang out, wide stood the gate,
And belcher of us was too late
To go to church that morning.

A Trip to Mt. Hood.

SALEM, Sept. 3d, 1867.

EDITOR OREGONIAN

As it is becoming quite common for people to go to Mt. Hood and report to some paper on their return; and as all these descriptions must of necessity be somewhat similar, they will, perhaps, after awhile become uninteresting to the reader, but as we went under circumstances somewhat different from any of our predecessors, we hope to deviate in some degree from the beaten track in the description which we shall give.

On Tuesday, August 20th, a party consisting of Hon. David Powell and lady, Prof. L. J. Powell and lady, Miss Mary A. Robinson, Miss Lucy Hay, Miss Fannie S. Case and myself, desiring to break the monotony of home life and its duties, started on a pleasure tour to Mt. Hood. We determined on making the trip one of real pleasure, and having arranged all things accordingly, we started from the house of the first named gentleman, with provisions sufficient to last a month, unless contest with a shorter stay. The camp ground twelve miles east of Portland was our first camping spot. When sable night had unfolded her dark pinions and spread them over the earth, our company was quietly resting and perhaps fondly dreaming of the joys the morrow would bring. Ere the first streaks of the morning light had flitted before us, arrangements were being made to resume the march; having partaken of a sumptuous breakfast prepared by the ladies of the company, we started on our way rejoicing. The Fates seemed propitious; the morning was clear; Apollo, with his golden winged chariot, was rushing through a cloudless sky. As we traveled on we were in a constant glow of delight, beholding the many and beautiful scenes in nature which were unfolding to our sight. The road we traveled was much better than we had anticipated. Laurel Hill seemed to be the only dread, the summit of which was reached Friday at 1 P. M. Though the hill was quite steep in places, yet our horses pulled their loads without any great difficulty. Friday night was passed at Government Camp, five miles from the base of the mountain; the evenings there were quite cool, and mosquitoes very annoying. It was a place Mr. James Powell, whose actions prove that he was as great a lover of pleasure as ever existed, came to our camp, having been on the summit of Mt. Hood the day previous, and his being so willing to make the ascent again in company with us, sent conviction to our minds that he was really an earnest pleasure seeker. (This revolution in sentiment, we think was due to the influence of the ladies. In this instance we think Mr. P. will never have cause to regret his action. From this time forward he was one of our numbers.) Not wishing to start up the mountain until Monday, we moved camp on Saturday morning to Summit Prairie a distance of two and a half miles. Here we found an area of about seventy-five acres, level and covered with beautiful green grass. A more lovely spot we had never seen—a perfect Mizpah, so I speak. For the sake of sound, we agreed to call our wagons buggies, and when tired of this kind of buggy riding, we all got out and shared a merry time at foot racing, the female persuasion acquitting themselves with a marked degree of distinction. In the meanwhile, two of our number, Prof. Powell and James Powell, were out on the hunting. I would here remark that the former of these gentlemen, in many respects, is equal to Nimrod himself, always starting out ably with the use of much spoil, yet unlike the [illegible] hunter (though figuring conspicuously in [illegible] hunt, was never known to capture game [illegible] than a grasshopper.) After they had proceeded a mile and a half from camp they discovered another beautiful [illegible], at the upper end of which were several small lakes. They had heard of these in Cascade mountains which were said to abound in fish. To test the truthfulness of this report, they concluded to experiment a little. So arming themselves with hooks and lines, they proceeded to fish, and in an hour or two they were in possession of nearly a hundred fine, spotted trout. The fish chase was of course abandoned. The trout were brought to camp and delivered over in charge of the ladies, until the next morning about breakfast time when they were suitably disposed of.

In the afternoon of the 25th, we moved camp up to the snow line, so as to give us an early start the following day to ascend the mountain. Leaving our wagons within four miles of the base, we packed our horses with provisions sufficient to last us two days. We were soon upon the grand object whose hoary summit was the goal of our ambition. With the ladies, the hope of standing on the loftiest pinnacle was soon to terminate either in a glorious fulfillment, or perish in a fruitless endeavor. Miss Robinson, Miss Case and Mis Hay were the possessors of this restless hope. At this time Miss Hay had abandoned every idea of reaching the summit; it was her misfortune to be taken with a chill on the first day of the excursion. We endeavored to buoy her up with assurances that when the time should come for the ascent, she would be able to do it; many [illegible] but the Fates were perverse. We arose early on the morning of the 26th, and prepared ourselves for the laborious task. At 7 A. M., Mrs. David Powell, James Powell, Miss Robinson, Miss Case and myself started for the summit, carrying with us pikes, and a rope to aid us in making the ascent. For some distance the ascent was gradual, but occasionally there were heights to be gained. Though it required a will and an effort, yet all were passed with but little inconvenience. We passed several deep chasms out of which blue smoke was issuing. At times the sulphurous odor which pervaded the atmosphere was very offensive. On nearing the summit, at the suggestion of the ladies, we all joined hands and marched boldly to the summit, singing Rally round the Flag." The ladies, by this time, began to appreciate the fact that they were then standing where ladies had never stood before. They seemed to think that a vote of thanks was due Col. Williamson's expedition, which preceded us a few days, for removing about five thousand feet of the top, thus lessening the labor required to accomplish their object. Had we preceded the Colonel, our fair friends might never have distinguished themselves to the extent they have. We now had a magnificent view of all the county round, except the Willamette Valley, which was obscured by smoke and intersecting clouds. The sun shone warm and pleasant, and a purer atmosphere was never realized. To the East lay the Deschutes and Walla Walla vallies, and far beyond, the Blue mountains towered up in great beauty. On the North were Mt. Adams, Rainier and St. Helens, and on the South, Jefferson and the Twin Sisters, with their snowy peaks kissing the clouds, all conspired to make the scene one of such sublimity and grandeur, which baffles the power of words to describe. Lying to the North and secreted in the Cascades, were two beautiful lakes of several miles in extent, calm in their appearance, disturbed by nothing, perhaps, save the sly trout as it cleaves their waters beneath. This scene, together with a view of the Columbia as it rolled grandly onward to mingle its waters with old Ocean's waves, furnished a sight lovely beyond description.

We remained on the summit one hour. During this time we deposited several memento's of our visit. Among others was a copy of the OREGONIAN, Advocate and Courierz also a small flag was left by one of the ladies. At ten minutes past two we began the descent, reaching the camp of the previous night at five minutes past four P. M. Before leaving the summit, three rousing cheers were given in honor of the Union, the order of Good Templars and the Wallamet University. On our return the ladies were greeted with numerous hurrahs from the remaining ones in camp, in consequence of their great achievement. Miss Robinson and Miss Case, without a doubt, deserve great praise for their persevering and untiring energy. While traveling in the mountains below, we met with several who would state that it was utterly impossible for ladies ever to reach the top of Mt. Hood. Some endeavored to dissuade them from the attempt, advising them to abandon their wild idea for their efforts would surely be fruitless.

L. J. Powell and lady followed us half way up the mountain, and then returned. It is the opinion of Mr. P. that the volcano is in a much more active state now than when he visited it ten years before; and from its present appearance we have every reason to believe this to be true.

While on the summit we also left a memento expressing our deep regret that Miss Hay was prevented from being with us; feeble as she was she ascended for nearly a mile above the snow line, and from that point she could look down upon the silver lining of the clouds which, perhaps, seemed dark and gloomy to her friends in the valley.

Tuesday morning we started homeward, all highly pleased with the success of the day before. A portion of Wednesday was spent on the road in gathering berries, which there grew in great quantities, and in hunting and fishing. These fishing expeditions were conducted by the ladies, who succeeded most admirably. Thursday evening we reached the place from whence we started.

To those desiring to take a pleasure trip to Mt Hood and its vicinity, we would give every possible word of encouragement. At this season of the year, the air there is warm and pleasant; and the myriads of beautiful flowers that deck the verdant hills, furnish a scene both lovely and attractive. One cannot but think that the earliest spring had burst in upon him with all its freshness and beauty. Friday morning we separated, all highly pleased with the trip. Each considering it as one long to be remembered as fruitful of much pleasure and instruction. No one, we think, can ever visit Mt. Hood without being more deeply impressed with the infinite wisdom and power of him, who created all things.

JOHN M GARRISON.

OUR RAILROADS.—We have so long plodded over the country on horseback, on foot, and in stages, and our freights have been drawn by the slow process of teams, requiring weeks and often months in transportation, that it is difficult to imagine that in a few more months the whistle of the locomotive and the clatter of cars is to take the place of the rumbling stage and the slow tread of horses and oxen. Yet such is the case. Before the snow flies, the Central Pacific will reach the Nevada State line.

Already a Company has organized and stock is subscribing to build a road from Virginia to connect with it on the Truckee river; and, in all probability, within one year from this time, a railroad connection will be made between this place and Sacramento City, and by that time the road will probably be completed connecting Sacramento and San Francisco. That accomplished, we can get on the cars here, go to San Francisco, transact our business, and return within twenty-four hours.—Virginia Treepass

COMING DOWN TO FINE THINGS.—A writer who visited the factory of the American Watch Company, describes the machinery employed in making the fine parts of the watch. Their nice minuteness is incredible. It is the crowning miracle of modern mechanism. The little scales in our National Mints will weigh 1 5,000 part of an ounce of gold, but these automaton watchmakers are greater marvels. Here are instruments cutting thread invisible to the naked eye, into screws of which 300,000 weigh only a pound! Here are some exquisite sapphire knives cutting metallic shavings of which 5,000 of them are required to make one inch in thickness! Here are microscopic diamond drills, boring into jewel holes like a needle point! Here are inventions measuring as well—machines which determine the 1-10,000 part of an inch, in pivot or jewel hole, as easily and unerringly as the carpenter's rule measures one foot on a stick of timber.

A South Danvers schoolboy has written the following composition on his native town:

"South Danvers is in the United States. It is bounded by Salem and reaches to Middleton. Its principal river is Goldthwaite's brook, which empties into Salem harbor. Its principal lake is the mill pond, which is dry in the summer. Its principal productions are leather, onions, the South Church and George Peabody. South Danvers has many religious sects, among which are the Orthodox, who worship their minister, and the Unitarians, who worship nothing."

A correspondent of the Tribune sends this pithy note:

SIR—Here is a brief and conclusive answer to President Johnson's last Veto Message: "Whenever you hear a man prating about the Constitution, spot him. He is a traitor."—Andrew Johnson, in 1865.

Rheumatism Cured!

State of Oregon, County of Multnomah—ss.

I, JEREMIAH BROCK, BEING DULY SWORN, SAY that I am fifty-three years of age, that I reside in Yamhill County, State of Oregon. I came to Portland on business, on horseback, from my home this morning. When I left home I could scarcely walk or stand on my foot, from Rheumatism, which has afflicted me for the last eight years. I was standing in Wilson's stable, on First street, in this city, when I heard Mr. Rennick's offer to bet that he would take out the Rheumatism in any case in twenty minutes. Rennicks offered to bet $100 that he could do it. I went to Mr. Rennick's house and he applied the Liniment to my leg, and in twenty minutes my leg felt sound and limber, and as well as ever.

CARD.

DR. BARLOW J. SMITH'S WATER CURE AND Phrenological Institute, 627 Sacramento Street, San Francisco. This is the only Regular Water Cure in San Francisco, where all curable diseases are treated without drugs. Dr. Smith was the first to establish a water cure on this coast, based upon the theory and practice of the New York Hydropathic College.

We have a truly healthful boarding place for men, women and children, and our prices are moderate.

The Phrenological organs plainly indicate the diseases to which any person, male or female, is predisposed.

Put this card in your hat, and when you come to San Francisco, call on Dr. Smith. He will give you consultation and a phrenological examination in regard to health. It will cost you nothing and may save you months and years of ill health and "bad luck."

Dr. Smith gives free lectures to gentlemen every Friday evening, on subjects pertaining to health, at his Phrenological Hall, 627 Sacramento Street.
